Bear's Captive Found

Little Girl Found
300 Yards From Disappearance
Point, Family Tent

LIBBY, Mont. (AP)—Found unharmed in a wooden hollow, 2-year-old Ida Mae Curtis bounded to her father's arms with a cheerful "Hi, Daddy" late yesterday after she was lost for 22 hours in a rugged mountain area south of here.

Searchers found her only 300 yards from where she disappeared Sunday evening.

Fearful his daughter might have been carried from her tent by one of several bears seen in the vicinity, Mortimer Curtis, the child's father, broke down and cried upon embracing her.

Mrs. Curtis, mother of seven, had said she saw two bears near the camp where Curtis works as a logger shortly after Ida Mae vanished.

The youngster was reported in "perfect condition." Sheriff Ray Frost of Lincoln County said she hadn't a scratch.

"She may have been frightened by a bear, but I doubt if it touched her," he said. "She was awake when we found her, lying on her side. She was a little frightened but not as much as you would think."

Ida Mae was wearing only a thin shirt, shorts and shoes, but seemed undisturbed at spending a chilly night and most of the day alone.

Two hundred fifty armed rescuers aided by bloodhounds at one time took up the search.

Inquest Held On Sunday In Auto Death

An inquest into the death of Mrs. Jessie Leona Kragel, 48, who was killed in a motor car accident on U. S. Highway 50, east of Knob Noster Saturday evening, was held at Knob Noster Sunday afternoon. A coroner's jury returned a verdict the victim had met death from injuries suffered in a motor car accident.

Dr. Kelly Rawlins, Holden, Mo., the Johnson County coroner, conducted the inquest at the Saults-Baker Funeral Home.

The jury was composed of Tom Beatty, Knob Noster city marshal, Clark Shoemaker, Henry Shumate, Earl Turner, Charles L. Saults and R. H. Utey.

Mrs. Kragel was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Frank Kragel, Kansas City, Kan., which was in collision with a second car driven by Herman Max Slaughter, Route 2, Mt. Sterling, Ohio, three-tenths of a mile east of Temporary Highway D, junction with Highway 50, east of Knob Noster, about 5:50 p. m. Saturday.

Five members of the Slaughter family suffered injuries in the accident and were treated at the Medical Center in Warrensburg.

Regained Bone Piece Saves Motorist's Arm

ADA, Okla. (AP)—An 18-year-old Kirkwood, Mo., motorist probably will not lose his left arm, thanks to a highway patrol trooper who searched for three hours before finding a piece of missing bone.

It started last night when John Pearson's arm was mangled when it was hit by a piece of protruding pipe from a passing truck. Pearson had had his arm resting on the window as he was driving three miles north of Atoka.

The motorist was rushed to an Ada hospital where the doctor told Trooper Bill Bailey he might be able to save Pearson's arm if he could find a piece of bone which was missing.

Bailey and three volunteers returned to the scene of the accident and finally found the bone.

New Association Formed—

Former SAAF Personnel Hold Annual Reunion

The Sedalia Army Air Field Association, an organization composed of former members of the Army Air Forces who served at the old base during World War II held its second annual reunion in Sedalia Sunday. The reunion was largely attended by members of various units who were stationed at the SAAF now the Sedalia Air Force Base.

The Association became official at the reunion this year when election of officers and discussions of a proposed permanent organization was held.

For more than five years members of the old Military Police unit held picnics for its members and in 1954 it was decided to invite all and everyone of the military who served at the base during the war to attend. At the 1954 gathering it was decided to defer organization until the annual reunion for 1955.

Charles D. "Stormy" Raine, of Newcomerstown, Ohio, was elected the first president of the Association. Raine, who served at the local base for several years is now the President of the Chamber of Commerce of his home town and is serving his second term in that position.

"This is my first visit back to Sedalia," Raine said, "but I think forming an SAAF Association is wonderful. I know that I shall be back every year and when others who passed through the SAAF learn of the Association, they too will be coming back." Raine said.

Officers for the association were fairly well scattered over the country. Others elected were: Lester Hephurn, 1403 East 13th, Sedalia, first vice-president; William C. Arms, Louisville, Ky., was elected as the second vice-president; Robert Stallings, Hickman Mills, Mo., secretary-treasurer; Joe Wolf, 1414 East Seventh, sergeant-at-arms; Joseph C. Knockel, Cascade, Iowa, historian; and Vernon Robinson, 1113 East 13th, chaplain.

Members of the Board of Directors: Glenn T. Johnston, Route 2, Warrensburg and Gordon P. Reininger, 515 West Third, one-year terms; Doris R. Turman, Floyd, Va., and Elmer L. Murphree, 703 West Fourth, to terms of two-years each; George Diotte, 1015 East Broadway and Samuel H. Green, 643 East Fifth, to terms of three years each.

The members then discussed the date for the 1956 reunion and after discussing the situation with many of the wives who were in attendance it was decided to hold the meeting on Sunday September 2, 1956. Thus giving the men a long weekend to get to Sedalia and return to their homes.

Attending this year's gathering were men and their families not only from Missouri and this vicinity, but from Ohio, Iowa, Virginia, Kansas, Georgia, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Plans for next year are to extend personal invitations to former Commanders of the various Troop

Carrier Wings which were stationed at the base, along with the Commanders of the Base and Wing of the present Sedalia Air Force Base.

Following the gathering Sunday, many of the group made a visit to their "old stomping grounds" the Sedalia Air Force Base where they were met by Col. Charles Neil, base commander, who personally conducted them on a tour of the base.

Three Firms Burglarized Sunday Night

Burglars made visits to three Sedalia business firms Sunday night, entering the Bryant Motor Co., Second and Kentucky, where a safe was demolished but no entrance gained and two other places attempts were made to enter but were not successful. These two places were at Curley's Hamburger Place, 109 South Grand, and at Chuck's Hamburger Place, 735 West Main.

Dan Robinson upon going into Bryant's about 7:30 a. m. Monday discovered the robbery attempt.

The thieves went to great effort to rob the safe which contained very little money, approximately $20 in change, and company records which were useless to anyone but the motor company.

Entering the building through a window in the alley. They then ripped two holes in a wall to the stock room but apparently did not get through there. Upon getting into the office they then removed the top portion of the safe hoping to get in through that way, and when this endeavor was found futile, they turned to using tire tools, chisels, hammers, etc., to cut a hole about a foot long in the door of the safe, and when this failed, they put the company's tow truck into operation.

Backing the truck up to the office door, the long cables from the winch was let out and hooked to the doors of the safe and tried to jerk them open, after removing the pins on the hinges of the safe. Apparently the cable jerked loose during the procedure and caught a partition of the office and jerked it down.

Several hundred dollars in damage resulted to the safe and building.

About 9:30 a. m. Monday, police found the Curley's place had been visited by thieves who broke out a glass in a rear door, but did not enter the place.

While investigating this robbery they found an east window on the southside of Chuck's place with the latch broken where the thieves had pried on this window. No entrance apparently was gained here.

Work Shop Is Completed So—

Striped College 4-H Club Open House Is Held To Display Furniture Pieces

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dabner, who live on Marshall Avenue, not only have time for their own two sons, Kim, aged 11, and Mike, aged 9, but Ted has opened his work shop and taken on 19 youngsters who signed up for the woodwork project from Striped College 4-H Club.

Three nights a week since the last of February Ted has had 18 boys and one girl, Caroline Staley, teaching them all about tools and how to use them.

Sunday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock open house was held at the Dabner home with the woodwork on display that amazed those who had the opportunity to see the many articles made by the boys and the one little girl. There were lawn chairs, coffee tables, step tables, a book case, a bed and dozens of other things that were just as nice as may be seen in any furniture store. There were flower boxes, some of them white with green trim, some green with white trim and some white with yellow trim. There were bread boxes, knife racks, bootjacks, salt boxes, farm gates, bird houses, tool boxes, chicken feeders, a trellis and out in the back yard three trailers with the wheels of old trucks being used.

These things will be on exhibit at the 4-H Achievement Day but the youngsters at Striped College wanted to have a display of their own first. Then, when Achievement Day is over they are planning to invite all of the Striped College 4-H members, of which Mrs. Lester Patrick is community leader, to a hayride on the trailers made by the boys over the Dabner farm. The hayride will end with a wiener roast at the new fireplace Ted Dabner's recently built in their back yard.

During the afternoon there was a picture show with Mrs. Hubert Finley showing three pictures: "Lumber For Houses", "Three Little Bruns" and "The Fallen Eagle."

UN Again Hits Red Actions

Command Wants
Strict Account Of Combat Material
Brought Into Korea

PANMUNJOM (AP)—The U.N. Command today accused the Communists of repeated and flagrant violations of the Korean truce agreement, and demanded a strict accounting of combat material brought into Korea by the Reds.

Maj. Gen. Harlan C. Parks, senior U.N. member on the Military Armistice Commission, said the Reds were guilty of "complete insincerity, dishonesty and utter lack of integrity" in maintaining the armistice agreement.

A few hours later, Parks barred Allied newsmen from a press conference called by the Communist delegate, North Korean Gen. Lee Sang Cho. Parks told the newsmen:

"I do not consider it appropriate that representatives of the enemy side enter my cap to attend my press conference. Conversely, I do not think accredited correspondents of the UNC should enter their camp for similar conferences."

It was the first such prohibition in the four-year history of the Panmunjom negotiations and conferences.

In a full-dress meeting of the armistice commission, Parks read into the record a 17½-page list of alleged Red violations of the truce.

He charged collusion by Communist Czech and Polish truce inspectors in making the Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission ineffective.

Parks then laid down a series of demands against the Reds, including:

"1. You provide the U.N. Command, without delay, an accurate accounting of all combat material and combat aircraft introduced into the territory of your side since the signing of the armistice.

"2. You immediately provide the NNSC (Neutral Nation Supervisory Commission) with a corrected combat material report which reflects the mass of combat material and hundreds of aircraft you have illegally introduced into Korea."

"3. You cease immediately the illegal introduction of additional combat material and combat aircraft into the territory of your side."

Parks buntly told the Reds their "soothing music" and "peaceful propaganda" was in stark contrast with "your continued willful and flagrant violation of the truce agreement."

"The time has come," he said, "to demand that the powers who are directing your iniquitous activities stop trying to reconcile your Dr. Jekyll with your Mr. Hyde."

Truman Completes 2 Years of Memoirs

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman has completed the 500,000 word manuscript of his memoirs on which he has been working two years.

Beginning in the fall the memoirs will be published serially in the New York Times, Life Magazine and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Doubleday & Co., also will publish them in book form. The first volume, "Year of Decisions," is scheduled for Oct. 20, and Volume II, "Years of Trial and Hope," will appear in February, 1956.

Andrew Heiskell, publisher of Life Magazine, said the original manuscript eventually will be donated to the Truman Library, at Independence, Mo., where Truman's papers and documents will be housed.

Kaiser II Found Dead After Seventeen Years In Local Pigeon Loft

Kaiser the Second, homing pigeon belonging to Guy Peabody, died at the age of 17, in the Peabody loft on July 3.

The blue checked pigeon, purchased from Fred Lude-mann by Peabody in 1938, was named Kaiser the Second because of his resemblance to the famous pigeon known to pigeon fanciers as Kaiser which was captured from the Germans by the Americans in 1918. Kaiser was brought to this country and kept in the lofts of the Government at Fort Monmouth, N. J., for 32 years.

The band around Kaiser the Second's leg had 38 on it as all homing pigeons have bands telling the date of their birth. He was one of the finest of homing pigeons.

Pettis Wool Growers Get Vote Chance

Referendum Called
On How to Back
Market Build-up

Carl E. Johnson, chairman of the Pettis County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today that all Pettis County wool growers will have an opportunity to vote in a referendum to decide whether or not deductions will be made from wool payments to provide a means of financing the wool marketing development program. In the referendum wool growers will have an opportunity to vote for or against putting into effect an agreement recently made between the Secretary of Agriculture and the American Sheep Producers Council under Section 708 of the National Wool Act of 1954. The agreement provides for deductions from wool incentive and lamb and yearling sheep (pulled wool compensating) payments made to producers under the National Wool Act of 1954. These deductions will provide for advertising, and other promotional activities to enlarge and improve the market for wool and lambs. Before the agreement can be put in effect, producers owning at least two-thirds of the sheep and lambs represented by those voting in the referendum must vote their approval.

Producers who have owned sheep, six months of age or older, for at least 30 days since Jan. 1, 1955, will be eligible to vote. Volume of production will be based on the number of sheep six months of age or older owned for at least 30 days since the Jan. 1 date. The number of sheep will be noted on the ballot.

If the referendum is approved, deduction from payments of the 1955 incentive program to be made the summer of 1956 will be one cent per pound from wool payments, and at the rate of five cents per one hundred pounds live-weight from lamb and yearling payments.

Pettis County ASC office will mail, or have mailed, ballots to all known wool producers in the county and Chairman Johnson assures any producer who does not receive a ballot, he can get one by writing to or calling at the ASC County office.

Chairman Johnson said all ballots must be returned to the ASC office not later than Aug. 19. Since the results of the referendum will be based on the number of sheep represented by the growers, the outcome of the referendum will not be available until about September 1.

Police Say Koenig Was Warned of Death

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Police said today they have learned that the slain J. Fred Koenig was warned several times before his death to quit handling horse racing news on a bootleg basis.

The body of Koenig, who previously operated such a service for a gambling syndicate, was found stuffed in the trunk of his car June 22. He had been shot twice.

Police Lt. Michael Schwartz said the information came from an associate of Koenig who was questioned for several hours yesterday. The associate was not charged and was not identified.

Schwartz quoted the associate as saying Koenig had been told several times to end his rival racing service or "get hurt."

Frank (Buster) Wortman, reputed to be the top figure in area gambling, was questioned at the St. Clair County sheriff's office Saturday, but was released after he denied any knowledge of Koenig's slaying.

Soar to Record High—Traffic Deaths Reach 382 Over 3-Day July Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic deaths in the United States over the Fourth of July weekend soared to a record high for the holiday.

The over-all accidental death toll also was the heaviest in years for the Independence Day period.

Traffic accidents from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday killed at least 382 persons. That was more than the number estimated by the National Safety Council, and compared to the previous record of 366 in a three-day Fourth of July period in 1952.

In the 78-hour period, 233 persons drowned and 133 others lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents. The over-all total of 748 was a record for a three-day Fourth of July holiday and compared with the record of 793 for a four-day Fourth of July period in 1950. The traffic toll in 1950 was an all-time high of 491.

Every state and the District of Columbia reported at least one accidental death. This year's toll in all types of accidents was far ahead of last year's three-day holiday period when there were 348 traffic deaths, 192 drownings, 79 deaths in miscellaneous mishaps and 4 deaths by fireworks. One person was killed by fireworks this year.

The safety council's preholiday estimate of traffic deaths was 380.

Peron Asks For Truce In Struggle

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron said in a broadcast today the enemies who failed to assassinate him in the 16 revolution are now circulating rumors in an attempt at "sedition by telephone."

Speaking to his people for the fifth time since the abortive revolt of navy fliers and marines, Peron appealed to opposition political parties to come to an agreement with him and he asked his followers for a truce in Argentina's political struggle.

The speech was broadcast by the Argentine radio network.

The president declared those who took part in the revolt, which cost hundreds of lives, were infamous. He said some navy units had sought the help of civilians outside political parties.

For the first time some voices from the opposition have been heard demanding a reconciliation among the Argentines, Peron said.

Radical party leader Augustin Rodriguez Araya, now exiled in Montevideo, Uruguay, wrote an article last week which said the Peron government was to blame for Argentina's position, but that the opposition was also guilty.

Peron today invited "responsible men" from the opposition to come to terms with him for reunification of the country.

He called for "a truce in the political fight" no matter what criticisms and rumors might be spread by "bad-intentioned enemies."

Peron delivered his 11-minute address from his Government House office, reopened today for the first time since a rebel air bombardment wrecked much of the building.

Almost simultaneously with Peron's broadcast, the government announced the resignation of Raul A. Apold, who has been in charge of Peron's widespread propaganda activities. As secretary of press and diffusion, Apold had been one of Peron's closest inner circle of advisers. The department controls credentials issued to the correspondents working in Argentina, allots newsprint to newspapers and exercises wide control over the movie industry, radio and television. He has served six years.

Wants an 'Honest' Basis—

Khrushchev Says Russians Strong Enough to Stand Pat

MOSCOW (AP)—Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev said yesterday that Russia wants an agreement "on an honest basis" at the Geneva summit talks but is strong enough to wait if the West is not prepared to negotiate seriously.

Khrushchev's host at the U.S. Embassy's Fourth of July party, Charge d'Affaires Walter N. Walmisley, replied: "I do not think the President of the United States would go to Geneva without serious reasons."

The Communist party chief and other top Russian officials, including Premier Nikolai Bulganin, put in a surprise appearance at the party. No such high-ranking group of Soviet leaders have ever before attended an embassy function.

In a speech he said he wanted to make to the guests, Khrushchev said the Russians are not going to the July 18 conference "with broken legs"—crippled by harvest failures or other breakdowns in the Soviet economy.

"We are going upright like soldiers to meet with worthy partners and that is the only right way," he declared. "If we talk on an Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen's residence. In addition to Khrushchev and Bulganin, former Premier Georgi Malenkov, First Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan and Lazar Kaganovich and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov were among the Soviet bigwigs on hand.

With Bohlen in the United States helping Eisenhower prepare for the Geneva talks, Walmisley and Mrs. Bohlen did the honors.

Asserting that people in the West "pay little attention to what we say and prefer to read tea leaves," Khrushchev told Walmisley:

"They ponder why the Soviet Union has made so many proposals that please the West so much. Of course we made these proposals not for the purpose of pleasing somebody. We made these decisions because they were the right decisions and this is what motivated us."

Plan Cool Welcome For GIs

Officials Arrange
Cool But Correct
Welcome for Three
Turncoat Prisoners

HONG KONG (AP)—U.S. officials are arranging a coldly correct reception for three American turncoat prisoners of war due to cross into Hong Kong Saturday from Red China.

The Communist Chinese Red Cross informed the Indian Red Cross in New Delhi yesterday of the July 9 arrival date for the three Korean War veterans who stayed with the Communists after the 1953 armistice, then recently changed their minds.

The men are Lewis W. Griggs, of Jacksonville, Tex.; Otho Bell, of Olympia, Wash.; and William A. Cowart, of Dalton, Ga. Cowart originally asked to be sent to Japan but recent reports from Peiping have said he now prefers returning to the United States.

The U.S. Defense and Justice departments so far have not said what action would be taken against the men. The departments' last word, in a joint statement last month, was that any American prisoner electing to stay in Red China would be held accountable "for any wrongful act he may have committed."

The Indian Red Cross asked the British Red Cross to meet the trio when they reached the border by train from Canton.

The State Department already has announced they will receive passports valid only for return to the United States. A department spokesman in Washington said yesterday their transportation would be arranged for them if they have no money, but like any other stranded Americans they will have to sign notes for funds advanced to them.

The Indian Red Cross announcement made no mention of the two Belgian POWs, Roger Devriendt and Louis Verdyk, who also are slated to leave Red China. Last Friday Peiping radio reported that all five turncoats had gotten drunk in the Red Chinese capital, disturbed the peace, reviled police and manhandled other persons. The broadcast said Bell and Verdyk were arrested.

Griggs, Bell and Cowart were among 21 American POWs who chose to stay with the Communists. Two later came home and are now serving prison terms. Peiping announced recently that another of the men had died.

Bell's wife said at her home in Olympia, Wash., yesterday that her biggest concern is: "Will he be tried by a military or a civilian court." She said she believed her husband would receive more equitable treatment from a civilian court.

At her home in Jacksonville, Tex., Griggs' mother said yesterday: "I trust in the Lord that justice will be done in my son's case."

Donnelly Appeals For More Grain Wagons

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly appealed to Western railroads today to make more grain cars available to relieve a serious shortage at the height of the Missouri wheat harvest.

He asked Harry Barron of the Western Traffic Assn., at Chicago to do everything he could to solve the problem.

Donnelly said the car shortage has hampered the movement of grain to and from the big terminal markets and also from the rural elevators. To speed up the unloading of cars, he said, state grain inspectors are working seven days a week.

The governor's office said it had received numerous reports that an unprecedented grain harvest had jammed elevators the bursting point. One report was that wheat was being dumped in the street at Salisbury for lack of storage space.

Copper Negotiations Resumed After Holiday

DENVER (AP)—The nationwide copper strike moved into its fifth day today as an estimated 22,000 members of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers continued picketing at plants and mines operated by three of the four biggest producers.

All negotiations concerning the independent union's demand for a 20-cent hourly wage hike, guaranteed annual wage and fringe benefits were suspended over the Independence Day weekend.

However, a union spokesman at Denver said he expected the talks would resume on several fronts today.

Senate Has Dixon-Yates Money Bills

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate takes up today the money bill carrying funds for a power line to the Dixon-Yates project, but much of the fire appeared to be gone from the controversy.

A year ago the issue tied up the Senate in debate for about two weeks, and foes of the contract, a symbol of the public vs. private power fight, had planned a determined fight again this year.

But that was before President Eisenhower last Thursday called for a restudy to determine whether "to continue or to cancel" the Dixon-Yates contract.

Results of that study may be forthcoming today or tomorrow from Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes, who has said "a probable result" will be cancellation of the contract and payment of an undetermined amount to the Dixon-Yates firm.

The new factor which led to the restudy was a decision by the city of Memphis to build its own power plant. Memphis has notified the Tennessee Valley Authority it will not renew its contract for TVA power when the present one expires in June 1958. City officials have expressed belief use of Dixon-Yates power will result in much higher electric bills.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said in a statement last night the administration study is "apparently confined to a Fourth of July conference on how best to get out of a bad deal."

Many foes of the contract appeared willing to accept the solution proposed by the Senate Appropriations Committee—a proviso stating that funds for the transmission line could not be spent if Memphis goes ahead within 90 days with a commitment to build its own power plant.

Minority Leader Knowland (R-Calif.), who has supported the contract, said in an interview he believes the Senate will approve this clause.

No votes were in prospect today. Besides funds for the TVA and the Atomic Energy Commission, the $1,377,419,000 bill carries money for numerous rivers and harbors, flood control and reclamation projects.

Before it passed the House, TVA supporters lost in an effort to strike from the bill the 6½ million dollars it carries to link the proposed Dixon-Yates plant to the TVA system. That vote, however, was taken before Eisenhower's order for a reappraisal of the project.

The Dixon-Yates plant, on which work has started at West Memphis, Ark., had been planned largely to fill the needs of the Memphis area through TVA lines.

The plant, for which a 107-million-dollar contract was negotiated by AEC at the President's order, was designed to supply power to TVA to replace TVA current used elsewhere by AEC.

Valuable Recordings Sold For Only $2,200

CLEVELAND (AP)—A collection of 36,000 phonograph records, appraised at more than $100,000, was sold today for $2,200 by the estate of George C. A. Hantelman, former manager of the Cleveland Engineering Society.

The collection was said to be the world's largest individually owned record library.

The buyer was A. Eichler of New York.

Probate Judge Walter T. Kinder granted permission for the sale after attorneys for the estate reported that a two-year search for a higher bid was unsuccessful.

In the collection were 6,000 recordings of vocalists going back 65 years. They included 241 by Enrico Caruso, and more than 3,000 jazz recordings.

Says More Red Trade Not Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harold E. Stassen says it appears unlikely that 1955 will see a further increase in Western trade in non-strategic goods with the Communist bloc, up 24 per cent last year.

Stassen said in a report to Congress that Moscow is using commerce with the West as a "vehicle of an often aggressive total foreign policy," and he continued:

"Through these overtures of the Soviet bloc present a continuing challenge, they have failed to divide free nations which are co-operating in the flow of strategic materials.

"These nations, while willing to trade in peaceful wares, not only refused to ship strategic materials but have strengthened their control over war potential items."

Stassen's report, on trade controls during the last six months of 1954, was submitted in his recently relinquished post as foreign aid director. It was made public last night.

He said "prospects are not bright" for a further increase in nonstrategic trade this year, and that there is a chance the level may decline somewhat.

He reported that Western trade with Communist China declined somewhat last year, although there was "a marked increase" in Chinese trade with Japan.

Japanese exports to Red China were said to have jumped from 4½ million dollars in 1953 to about 19 million last year. That compared with total Western shipments to China last year of about 285 million dollars, mostly in the form of fertilizers, textiles and medicine.

Stassen attributed to agricultural difficulties in Russia increased purchases by Moscow of meat and other foodstuffs from the West. Giving the gain as 7 per cent, he said the increased meat "went on the table of the privileged few," and added:

"The Soviet consumer is just pretty much where he was before—with lots of propaganda and not very much to eat or wear."

Mr. Dabner, who is employed at the Missouri Pacific Shops and who also has a farm doing farming on a small scale, gave three nights a week to the project. Mrs. Dabner, who is just as interested and has done her share in helping, always managed to have some kind of refreshments and when they were getting ready for the open house just about had to move out of her very attractive home which shows her artistic touch for which she is well known. She couldn't hardly get things cleaned up for the open house because she had all kinds of wood work pieces all over her house so they wouldn't get marred or scratched before the open house. She could hardly move around anymore clean but she must not have been very dirty to start with because the house looked just perfect. This typical American family is just about the happiest anywhere because they love to work together they love to play together, and they love to help other people.

Guild Has Recognition Service Wednesday

The Fifth Street Methodist Guild met recently for a covered dish supper at the church. Seventy members and six guests attended.

Recognition service "Growth Is Like a Rose Tree" was presented. The theme was carried out in the stage setting. A rose tree bare of blossoms with a basket of red roses beside it. Mrs. Handley introduced the recognition service by explaining that the roses to be added to the tree would represent the various areas of service within the society during the past year. Each officer and secretary in turn told of her work and accomplishments and placed a rose upon the tree. Noting that several roses had not been used Rev. Lee Soxman asked for volunteers to help him complete the tree and the art seemed symbolic of the extra services within the society when the cooperation of additional workers is necessary.

An impressive installation service and presentation of a rose to each incoming officer by the pastor concluded the program. New officers are: Mrs. Brooks Wade, president; Mrs. Henry Neimann, vice president; Mrs. Marlin Jones, recording secretary; Mrs. L. A. Pharris, treasurer and Mrs. Myra McFarland, promotion secretary.

Death Rides The Bicycle....

Vacationists usually take interest in area news when away from home, seeking contrasts and similarities in the days' events that react on readers' emotions.

Leaving the tornado belt of the mid-west one day, for instance, and two days later finding oneself on the fringe of a minor earthquake near Cleveland, Ohio, right when Sedalia delegates were attending the Kiwanis International convention. The quake probably didn't rate headline treatment in the midwest.

Then on the outskirts of Toledo two high school teen-agers riding bicycles in the dark without headlights or red reflectors were run down on a highway and killed. This tragic event was termed an accident and the motorist held blameless.

The incident, however, should serve as a warning as far away as Sedalia to parents of children who follow the practice in our own community of riding bicycles to the Little League ball games and other events at Liberty Park and returning home on the streets with no headlights or red reflectors on their bicycles. Motorists are on top of these youngsters before they can dodge some-times.

Unlighted bicycles on Sedalia's streets are not only a hazard to the children and motorists, but this practice violates a city ordinance which has not been enforced. Of course any crackdown would invite accusations that the police were persecuting the youngsters. This is unfair.

Why wait until we have a tragic accident in Sedalia? Either the bike ordinance is justifiable or it should be repealed; if kept on the book it should be enforced. And here again it is not to gain revenue for the city exchequer, but to protect lives and property—particularly lives of children.

Let's have the bicycles equipped with headlights and reflectors—or, parents, don't let your children ride them at night.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round--

Robert Rosamond Had a Great Story

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—A young fellow from Philadelphia came to Washington the other day and held a press conference. His name is Robert Rosamond and it was easy to see that he wasn't used to holding press conferences. He had no sensational news to give out, no exciting story to tell, and he wasn't well-known enough or important enough to command an audience.

You could see that he felt very deeply about his story, but he didn't know how to tell it, and being quite young and relatively insignificant, he laid an egg in the newspapers.

So I'm afraid Robert Rosamond went back to Philadelphia a crushed and disappointed young man.

Actually he had the greatest story in the world to tell—peace. But the story of peace never seems to arouse any excitement in times of peace. It's only a big story in time of war or the threat of war. So in blase, busy Washington, Robert Rosamond got nowhere.

However, I would like to report on his idea, because I think it has merit, especially on this day when here at home we celebrate our Independence, and when abroad the cold war clouds seem to be breaking up a bit and when we need to encourage the break-up further.

Mr. Rosamond proposes that since the United States was founded by a Declaration of Independence, we now go one step further and adopt a "Declaration of Interdependence," a statement recognizing the fact that we have grown while the world has shrunk and in these days of intercontinental missiles which may be shooting from Moscow to New York in two hours, there just isn't any independence anymore.

The isolationists may scoff at this, but unfortunately it's true. The United States has to be interdependent with the rest of the world. And the richer we are the more interdependent we are.

So maybe an inspiring declaration of interdependence couched in the ringing style used by Thomas Jefferson when he spent 18 days in Philadelphia writing the stirring words of July 4, 1776, might help to inspire us, and unite the world as it creeps along the difficult road to peace.

Maybe someday the world will realize that lonely Robert Rosamond, who held a press conference in a blase, busy city to promote peace, had the germ of a real idea after all.

Pioneering Publishers

A good many years ago when newspaper editors could still set up a hand press and a newspaper on a shoestring in frontier America, Amon Carter of the Fort Worth Star Telegram gave an assignment to Silliman Evans to go out and write six columns a week.

Evans worked for and with Carter for a long time, eventually took over a paper of his own, the Nashville Tennessean. Together they organized American Airlines, which became the greatest in the world, with more passenger traffic than the Pennsylvania railroad.

Sometime they differed politically, but always they admired and respected each other.

The other day in Fort Worth, Amon Carter died. Silliman Evans went to his funeral. There Evans suffered a heart attack and went to join his old friend and boss.

Thus passed on a pair unique in American journalism. Amon Carter was best-known for

Guest Editorial--

THE PHILADELPHIA EVENING BULLETIN: MAKE WAY FOR THE DOCTOR.—For the ordinary citizen who feels lonely and misunderstood, and is swept by a wild desire to smash eggs on his head, there has always been one sure refuge.

Reclining on the psychiatrist's couch, he could pour out his frustrations to sympathetic ears, and be sure of healing counsel. His whims, it might turn out, were a simple manifestation of the Oedipus complex; nothing to worry about at all.

But now, it seems, the patient will have to move over. The psychiatrist wants to lie down on that couch himself.

The American Psychiatric association, meeting at Atlantic City, has taken note of this bewildering new case.

Psychiatrists as a group, they were told by one of their number, are a lot of lonely, misunderstood men. The public is inclined to regard them as being somehow different from other doctors. Run-of-mill citizens can't realize that psychiatrists are specialists, and bandaging sprained souls may be just as important as binding wrenched ankles.

It's a hard case, and the treatment isn't clear. With the psychiatrist on the couch, who's going to be doing the listening?? giving five-gallon hats to distinguished visitors. He was "Mr. Ft. Worth." He built up that city, gave it the finest airport in the U. S., made the rivalry between Dallas and Fort Worth a very personal matter.

But not all that Amon Carter did got into newspapers. When we organized the Friendship Train, he quietly gave 14 carloads of flour—which is a lot. I remember delivering it to Premier Alcide de Gasperi of Italy in Rome in person. Ironically, Internal Revenue tried to tax him for it on the ground that this was a gift to satisfy his ego. It was just the opposite and Internal Revenue eventually backed down.

Methodist Crusader

Silliman Evans was proud of the fact that his father, a Methodist minister, was once run out of a Texas town because he crusaded for the clean-up of the red-light district. Silliman was also a crusader. He led the crusade against the poll tax and abolished it in Tennessee. He picked a young Davy Crockett type of congressman named Kefauver and beat crusty, crochety Kenneth McKellar. Later he almost nominated Kefauver for president.

He battled Boss Crump of Memphis and when Crump wrote him scurrilous, libelous letters, Evans published the letters in paid ads, wiring other newspapers that he absolved them from libel.

When one of the biggest department-store advertisers in Nashville told Evans to take my column out of the paper and run Pegler more often, Silliman replied:

"I've been thinking for some time that I ought to raise your lineage rate. I'll do it tomorrow."

And he did.

When he came to Washington, Silliman Evans would hire a car and chauffeur and take the Kefauver children out to the zoo. Sometimes he went himself. Sometimes when he was too busy he sent the chauffeur. And when word that this sometimes hard-boiled, sometimes kindly crusading newsmen had died, the Kefauver children cried and cried. "We won't see Uncle Silliman anymore," they said, "he'll never take us to the zoo anymore."

A Roving Orchestra

Ten years ago the General Assembly of North Carolina passed the "Horn Tootin' Bill" allowing a $2,000 subsidy to the North Carolina Symphony. The Tarheel legislators have found that this was a good investment, and the subsidy this year is $20,000.

The North Carolina Symphony is a traveling orchestra of 65 musicians. The state subsidy is supplemented by various types of memberships, donors and ticket sales in order that good music may be brought to rural areas, small hamlets as well as larger towns and cities. Little symphonies and children's concerts are held in the places where the large orchestra cannot go.

The North Carolina Orchestra has no permanent home. It does not even have a rehearsal hall. It spends its time on the road bringing music to the people. Its conductor, Benjamin Swain, gets his musicians together for rehearsal a week before his first tour with the Little Symphony and also the full orchestra. The rest of the time he "hits the road" and plays in tabernacles with a sawdust floor—one room schools or large auditoriums.

The people come—and the orchestra gives them music—good music from the great masters.

Johnson's Illness Unofficial Withdrawal

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—For a man with presidential ambitions a heart attack is like a letter of withdrawal. A man who has had one may live for years, but not as strenuously, if he wants to continue living.

Although the presidency itself can be one of the most strenuous jobs on earth, just seeking may be even tougher: an exhausting convention, days and nights and the physical nightmare of a campaign lasting for months.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democrats' Senate leader, who suffered an attack over the weekend, has never said he wanted to be in the White House. But he has been mentioned as a possibility, if not in 1956, then later.

This heart attack just about eliminates the 46-year-old Texan from consideration, as a presidential candidate although, when he recovers, he may have a long and useful life as a senator.

Even the demands on the endurance of a senator are enormous: working on committees, attending hearings, studying legislation, answering mail, work on the Senate floor, outside speeches, meeting visitors.

A Senate leader's job, such as Johnson's, is an even greater tax on energy and peace of mind. It requires not only responsibility for what the Senate does but riding herd on the whole Senate to get it done.

Under Johnson's leadership the present Senate has been the smoothest-run in years. That was the result of tireless work by Johnson. The work he did may have brought on his attack.

So it is even questionable that when he returns his doctors will let him resume as Senate leader, preferring he go back to the less demanding role of senator. His term continues until 1960.

Just how much Johnson can do when he returns depends upon how much heart damage he has suffered and how much he's willing to do at the risk of overdoing it.

Uncertainty is the greatest certainty about the life of a man who had an attack and survived: he may never have another; the next one may kill him; or he may last through a series of attacks and die of something else.

But anyone who has had an attack and seeks the presidency starts under a political handicap: the voters are conscious of the risk in picking him over an opponent who never had his first heart attack.

Running Back Home Is Often Happier Than Leaving It

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Running back to a home is often a happier thing than running away from it.

After the long weekend holiday away from its little white mortgaged nest, the family returns.

They are father and mother and junior and sister. And each is lonesome separately for the welcome mat set for strangers.

All come back tired. The grown-ups have grownup problems. Father and mother are mad at each other. They are so angry that they no longer address each other by their family duty names—"Mom" and "Dad"—but by the mean names they called each other when they were courting each other.

But something is lost for the moment: The fun accent they used when the nicknames were new—in the time before the children came.

"Well, Hayfoot," she demands, "you finally got us back safe in the garage. Do you want a medal? The way you were free-wheeling that blonde at the party I thought you wanted to be free, 21, and independent."

"What's wrong with a fellow having fun?" mumbled father. "What's a party for?"

"Fun? Fun?" replies mother, not so much in inquiry as the fact it enables her to draw two deep breaths to fuel a really long sentence.

"You didn't pay a bit of attention to me during the whole weekend. I might not as well have been there. All you did was talk politics with strangers and bounce around looking for matches to light cigarettes for that silly blonde."

"Listen, Chuckhead," he fights back, "don't talk to me. You certainly were playing little-miss-big-ears to that bald-headed pot-bellied man in real estate."

"Well, he almost cornered the Empire State building," she says. And he says, snorting:

"Heck, even I could almost corner the Empire State building on a clear day. If I could swim a little farther, I could almost corner Australia."

"I'm sleepy," wails Sister from the back seat.

"See, you've startled the children," says Mama virtuously.

Dad sighs and gets out and opens the car doors. Mama and Sister stumble out. He reaches in to lift out the recumbent figure of Junior, and bangs the boy's head against the car top with the dull thud a son's skull usually makes in such circumstances.

"Are you trying to wind up the evening by murdering your own child?" asks Mother.

This is enough sympathy for Junior. He didn't know he was hurt before. Now he begins to yowl.

"Oh, shut up, Junior," growls his father. "You weren't hurt. Grow up."

But he picks up Junior in his arms as they debark from the car. A key scratches in the lock, mother fumbles and finds a lamp and switches it on.

The magic of light presents out of the uncertain darkness the neat safe living room they all know and love. It stills their angry holiday weariness, calms them with the soft peace of a known harbor entered after storm.

The family dog comes out wagging his tail. The family cat pretends to be indifferent, pauses and then comes up and rubs against each one's leg in turn, making a purring noise.

The parents divide the duties. The children are put to sleep, the cat and dog are fed, and dad empties the garbage he neglected to dispose of before the holiday began.

The bolt grumbles in the door securing a family at home. The lights go out.

"I'm sorry I was so cross," says one whisper in the night, and after a self-sorry moment another whisper gallantly replies, "Oh, you didn't say anything bad, dear."

There is a meeting and clasp of reaching hands. Then silence. Slowly through the blackened house mingles the soft breathing symphony of man and wife and son and daughter and dog and cat and the creaking noises of an old house settling down for another night. The holiday is over—and all are safe at home, asleep where they belong, together as one, the final victory of the family.

Prosperity Is Welcome This Month

NEW YORK, (AP)—Prosperity and inflation look much alike at the start. Prosperity is an accepted and welcomed guest this month. But many fancy they see inflation hiding behind prosperity's skirts, tagging along with prosperity's friends, rising labor costs and booming demand.

Wages have been rising rapidly this year—as has just been dramatically pointed up by the settlements in the auto and steel industries.

The question is: How much of this is the reshuffling of the shares in prosperity between employee and employer—and how much of it will just mean higher prices for everyone?

Many businessmen, doubtless—and many stock traders obviously—have bet on a rise in steel wages and prices as a sure thing. Stock traders have been bidding up prices to stocks in industries that would "profit" from inflation.

As a basic raw material for many industries, costlier steel will mean higher production costs in many factories. It may take time for that to trickle down in whole or, more likely, in part) to the retail cost of goods those factories produce. And management faces the risk that customers may balk at price hikes, and thus make the whole wage-price structure shaky.

Between the end of World War II and this year, the base wage rates in the steel industry have risen seven times for a total of 60 1/2 cents an hour. Steel prices have risen seven times too, for a total of $36.84 a ton.

Now wages are going up an average of 15 cents an hour more. Price hikes, after they're worked out for various steel products, may average about 7.50 a ton.

The reason that wages and prices can go up at this time is simple: present prosperity.

If steel and auto leaders didn't really believe that good times are here for awhile, that plans for extensive plant and equipment spending are musts to meet even greater demand in the years ahead, they wouldn't have been willing now to grant as big sale increases as they did.

The question now is: Can they hold down other costs enough to keep price rises from getting out of hand and bringing on another round of inflation that hits everybody.

Sinking Hose Is Cut Off By Di Peso

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP)—Enough, said truck driver George Di Peso, is enough, so he ended the saga of his burrowing garden hose with a pair of heavy shears.

The 50-foot green plastic hose began mysteriously worming its way down into the ground in his front yard last Thursday. It kept on disappearing in the general direction of China at a rate of 2 or 3 inches an hour.

Approximately 20 feet was gone by yesterday. Hundreds of persons trampled over the lawn to watch. Di Peso received batches of advice and suggestions; telephone calls from as far away as New York, Tokyo, Canada and England.

Finally, yesterday, he cut the hose and said:

"If it wants to sink down farther and disappear completely, my prayers go with it. If it decides to stay the way it is and doesn't move any more, I'm going to bury it."

He and his family had planned to go to the mountains for the July 4 weekend but called off the outing.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," he said. "This thing was getting out of hand. My life has been made a big mess."

Britain Agrees On Base With So. African Navy

LONDON (AP)—Britain is turning over control of the big Royal Navy base at Simonstown, South Africa, to the Johannesburg government. But she retains the right to use it for herself and her allies in wartime, even if South Africa remains neutral.

Prime Minister Eden announced the agreement to the House of Commons yesterday. He said Britain also would be permitted to share the base's facilities in peacetime.

It serves as a halfway stop for warships and troop carriers sailing between Europe and Asia via the Cape of Good Hope and is of prime importance if the Mediterranean is closed.

Hennings Sticks By Principles On Election Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hennings (D-Mo) said today he is standing pat on a proposed revision of the federal election laws despite strong—and possibly fatal—Republican and Democratic opposition.

A bill by Hennings to raise the expenditures limits on presidential Senate and House campaigns is on the Senate calendar with approval of a majority of the Rules Committee. It also would require more detailed reporting of campaign spending than at present.

But Democratic leaders have delayed action on the measure in a reported search for a compromise which would make it more palatable to Southern Democrats, who oppose what they term federal interference in primary elections.

Republicans have demanded the bill be amended to prevent labor organizations from contributing to campaign funds.

Hennings said he knows all about these objections but is going to stick by the main features of the bill.

"Of course, I will be glad to consider any amendments that are offered but I am not going to give up on principles," he said.

Sixteen Injured As Carnival Seats Fall

SACO, Maine (AP)—A carnival bleacher stand, laden with Fourth of July showgoers, collapsed in a muddy field last night. Sixteen persons were injured, two seriously.

Mrs. Blanche Milliken, 47, Biddeford, was hospitalized with a pelvic fracture, and Mrs. Jeanette Grant, 33, Biddeford, had leg fractures.

Frank Bergen, general manager of the World of Mirth Shows, Inc., attributed the six-foot-high bleacher's section's fall to mucky ground. The show resumed after the mishap.

Marathon Golf Record Set Monday

Four Local Boys Play 104 Holes

The 101 hole golf record at the Sedalia Country Club was smashed Monday when a foursome which dwindled to a threesome at the 74th hole, collapsed the record established for marathon golf. The new record is now 104 holes.

The new record was established by Vic Van Dyne, 15, Tony Walch, 15, and Stanley "Stan" Walch, 21. The fourth member of the foursome, Frankie Reynolds, had to quit at the 74th hole because of blistered feet, intense heat and fatigue.

It was in 1938 that the marathon record of 101 was set by Damon Hieronymus, Charles Patterson, and Norman Scotten, the club pro. When the new champions completed the 104th hole Hieronymus was on hand to congratulate the three.

Van Dyne fired the low score of the day with 81-77-87-83 and plus 65 for the final 14 holes for a total of 470 strokes. Stan Walch shot 87-81-83-82-83 plus 68 for the 14 for a total of 489. Tony Walch had a card of 94-94-97-99-95 plus 78 for a total of 557. Reynolds had 80-76-83-77 plus 10 for his last two holes for a total of 326 for the 74.

Reynolds had the low nine shooting a 35 on the third round.

The foursome started the rounds at 4:12 a. m. and at 12:30 p. m. had completed seven rounds or 63 holes. The final rounds were slowed because of the mid-day intense heat. They began to raise blisters on their feet and their skin was turning a scarlet red from sunburn. Reynolds was able to make one more nine-hole round plus two holes in the afternoon before giving way to his hurts and to fatigue.

The golfers who finished the tour at 7:45 p. m. estimated they had walked a total of 30 miles each for the 104 holes.

A large gallery was on hand for the final rounds and followed the young golfers encouraging them to continue and set up the new record. As the final putt was made on the 104th, Hieronymus on behalf of the former titleholders, congratulated the new champions.

Boston Beats The Yankees In Doubleheader Monday

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

What in the world are the Red Sox doing back there in fourth place? The way those guys look they ought to be away out front in the American League race.

They showed just about everything a manager could want—power hitting and great pitching—while whacking the league-leading New York Yankees in a doubleheader yesterday 4-2 and 10-5.

Ted Williams pounded a double and a towering home run in the opener. He walked as a pinch hitter in the nightcap.

But it wasn't all Williams. Willard Nixon made his record 7-2 over the New Yorkers, knocking home two runs with a single before retiring from the mound in the first game because of the 96-degree hit after five innings. Ike Delock took it from there.

A grand slammer by Jackie Jensen and a three-run homer by Norb Zaichin in the ninth were the big blows in the nightcap. Tom Hurd held New York to two hits in 6 1/3 innings of relief.

The sweep gave Boston 24 victories in the last 29 games. Cleveland took second place in the league by beating Detroit twice, 6-5 and 8-5, while the White Sox slipped to third by splitting at Kansas City. Chicago won the opener 8-3, lost the second 4-3. Baltimore beat Washington 6-2 in the only single game action.

In the National, first-place Brooklyn rapped Philadelphia twice, 11-2 and 6-3; Chicago split with Cincinnati, losing 6-3 before winning 4-3; St. Louis took two from Milwaukee, 4-2 and 5-4; Pittsburgh beat New York 4-3, then lost 5-3.

The day's work left the Yanks atop the American League, five games up on Cleveland, and Brooklyn ahead of the Cubs by 1 1/2 in the National. The Fourth of July rule of thumb has sent 36 American League leaders on the Fourth to the World Series in the past 54 years. Thirty-four of the National League leaders at this point have gone on to win in the last 55 years.

Both the Yanks and Dodgers, incidentally, have been among the more notable exceptions to the rule in the past.

Cleveland moved a half game ahead of the White Sox on Hal Naragon's pinch single to beat Detroit in the 15-inning opener with Bob Lemon winning No. 11 in relief. Larry Doby hit a pair of homers and Al Rosen one in the nightcap, but it was Bobby Young's two-run triple that broke up a 5-5 tie for the victory.

The White Sox had 16 hits to beat Kansas City in their first game, but the A's bounced back to win the nightcap on an unearned run in the eighth after Hector Lopez had tied it two innings earlier with a two-run homer.

There were a total of 37 homers hit in the 15 games yesterday (the one-day record is 40) and the dodgers smacked six of the National League's 20. Duke Snider belted Nos. 26 and 27 and drove in six runs for the day while Don New-combe and Clem Labine kept the Phils in check. For Newcombe it was No. 14.

A triple by Wally Moon and a single by Bill Virdon gave St. Louis the 10-inning nightcap at Milwaukee after Del Crandall's pinch three-run homer had tied it in the ninth. Tom Poholsky six-hit the Braves and Rip Repulski broke up a 2-2 tie with a homer to win the opener.

Art Fowler limited the Cubs to four hits and Ted Kluszewski hit his 27th homer as Cincinnati topped Chicago in the opener. In the nightcap, Gene Baker broke it up for Chicago with a fifth-inning home run as Warren Hacker finally got a winner after eight straight defeats by the Redlegs.

St. Andrews, Scotland (P)—The harrowing reputation of this ancient cradle of golf was at stake today in the British Open.

Is it really a fire-breathing monster or have golfers down through the years let superstition get the better of them?

They walk in awe on the 6,936-yard, par-72 Old Course and are only slightly less respectful of the 6,526-yard, par - 71 new course.

But yesterday in the first 18-hole qualifying round for the Open, Americans, Englishmen, Scots, Continentals and the one Australian in the tournament—defending champion Peter Thomson—blasted their way around the two layouts as though they were bush league courses.

Out of a field of 270, 19 players broke 70 and little-known Frank Jowle, a 43-year-old Yorkshireman, ran up an amazing 63 on the New Course.

When it was all over, here were some of the vital statistics:

1. Forty posted scores bettering par.

2. It was the finest round of competitive golf ever recorded in the 500 years of St. Andrews.

3. Jowle's round was the lowest ever posted in the 95-year-old British Open.

Americans also joined in the assault. British amateur champion Joe Conrad, of San Antonio, had a 67, while Byron Nelson, now a play-for-fun golfer, came up with a 69. Jimmy McHale, of Philadelphia, had a 70. Ed Furgol, 1954 U.S. Open champion, shot a 71.

15-Mile Stretch Across Lake Erie

CRYSTAL BEACH, Ont. (P)—Eighteen-year-old Greta Patterson of Batavia, N.Y., yesterday became the first person to swim the 15-mile stretch of Lake Erie between this amusement resort and Angola, N.Y.

Greta tapped a pier and ended her long swim just 13 hours and 3 minutes after she strode into the surf on the American shore at 6:35 a.m.

"I thought I'd never make it, but I did," she told reporters excitedly. Sirens screamed and an estimated 20,000 persons strained to catch a glimpse of the girl who was graduated from high school only last week.

"Come on, baby doll," pleaded voices in the boat of her trainer, Lawrence Slocum, an Attica State Prison guard.

Slocum estimated the girl actually swam 17 miles across the lake while fighting a troublesome 8 to 10 m.p.h. westerly wind.

Greta swam much of the distance without a bathing suit to prevent chafing and drag on her while in the water. But she became nervous and donned the suit quickly when the flotilla of welcoming boats began to circle around her.

Sports Roundup—

Trophy Awaits An American Who Does The 'Big 4' Mile

NEW YORK (P)—The sooner that Wes Santee or some other American runner hotfoots a four-minute mile the better, say officials and employees of the local branch of the AAU. They're beginning to get a bit impatient.

For nearly 14 years now the Metropolitan Assn. has been giving house room to a large and handsomely imposing hunk of silverware, just waiting for the day when it can thrust the prize into the hands of a fellow citizen and scam out of there, having finally discharged a solemn obligation.

Back just over a year ago, when Roger Bannister and John Landy began ripping off four-minute miles for weekend exercise and it looked as though the feat might become commonplace, the girls around the office hauled the two-foot trophy from its hiding place and gave it a terrific polish job.

Since then they have watched despairingly as Santee and his fellow American harriers fired and fell back and the cup gradually reverted to its former tarnished state.

The story of the orphaned object goes back to Sept. 25, 1941, when Col. Hons Lagerloef, a member of the local Swedish American Athletic Club, decided it to the Metropolitan group for presentation to the first Yankee doodler to hit the magic mark "before Nov. 1, 1946."

The colonel evidently felt there was going to be a four-minute mile almost any day, and he assumed naturally, that an American would be the bucko to do it. He played safe only to the extent of saying that, in the improbable event nothing had happened within the specified period, the AAU could do with the cup as it saw fit.

There came the rub. There was a war, and for several years

America's athletes had things to think about besides running the mile. When Nov. 1, 1946, came and went without the mug having found a home, its temporary guardians had to make a decision. Either they could award the percolator to, say, the first amateur athlete turning in an honest expense account, or they could stick to Col. Lagerloef's original dream. They've been stuck ever since.

Russian Jets Outnumber Free World's

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) today said the Defense Department has admitted under congressional pressure that Russian strength in jet fighters and modern light jet bombers exceeds that of the entire free world.

He asserted that Republican administration officials, backed by President Eisenhower, disregarded military experts in 1953 and curtailed a carefully planned Air Force expansion program. The cuts were restored in 1954, said Sparkman, but this country's defense program has not yet recovered.

Sparkman accused the Defense Department and Air Force officials of refusing "to face the known facts about Russia's increasing strength and to make those facts known to the American people."

"They even refused to declassify and release to the American people the photographs taken of the Air Force show held in Moscow last May."

Sparkman's remarks were in an address to be delivered at an American Legion convention today.

"Many suspect that this information was held back for fear that public knowledge of it would force the administration to request additional money to step up American manufacture of jet fighters and jet bombers," Sparkman asserted.

Larry Parks And His Wife Star Together

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Things are picking up for Larry Parks and his wife, Betty Garrett. After a period of some drought in their careers, they are doing very well. They just finished their first film together, a Ford Theater show for TV. They play a husband and wife team of screen writers and a blonde charmer, Joy Lansing, complicates their marriage.

"We've appeared together in almost every other medium," Betty said on the set of the Screen Gems production. "Our next objective is making a feature together."

That plan will have to wait for their other activities. Larry is leaving for Syracuse, N.Y., where he'll play the Barney Greenwald part in "Caine Mutiny Court Martial" in summer stock. After that, Betty joins him and they'll head for England, where they'll play five weeks of vaudeville in the provinces.

"Those English audiences are wonderful," he explained. "It's the third time we've been back. Once, they take a liking to you, you're in."

When they return, Larry goes into the touring company of "Tea-house of the August Moon," playing the role of the Okinawan interpreter.

Betty's career is also getting its biggest push in years. She won the prize role in the film version of "My Sister Eileen," the part Rosalind Russell played in the 1942 movie and later in "Wonderful Town" on Broadway. Betty is tied up for a picture a year with Columbia for the next seven years. The preview reaction to "Eileen" indicates she's got a winner.

The Parks-Garrett activity contrasts with their life of the last few years. Both careers hit a slump after Larry testified about his one-time Communist connections. That was four years ago, and he hasn't made a feature film since.

ner charged with disturbing the peace of his sister, pleaded innocent to the charge but after a hearing was fined $25 by Judge R. L. Weinrich.

Eleven overtime parkers who failed to appear in court forfeited their cash bonds of $1 each.

Thirty - nine overtime parkers who reported to police headquarters within a half hour after receiving a ticket paid 25-cents each.

Police Reports
Lloyd Simons, 217 South Moniteau reported to the police thieves stole the emblems from his Belair Chevrolet while parked in front of his home Friday night.

Billie Bishop, 2001 South New York, reported to the police a car had backed up and over his bicycle damaging it. He gave the police a description of the car and driver.

Joe Rouchka Jr., 1410 South Barrett, reported to the police the theft of a Schwinn bicycle belonging to his son Donald, taken from the Little League Stadium, Sunday night.

Melvyn Leroy Robertson, 19, of Columbia, charged with speeding 70 miles per hour from 12th and Arlington to the City Limits, failed to appear in court and his $25 cash bond was ordered forfeited.

Walter W. Buckley, 801 East Seventh, reported to the police that while his car was parked at Bing's No. 2 Market a car pulled in alongside his and dented the right door. The car pulled in and then departed before a description could be obtained.

Bulgarian Spy Ring Smashed In Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Turkish police were reported rounding up a Bulgarian spy ring today after arrest of a vice consul from the neighboring Soviet satellite.

Istanbul Police Chief Alaeddin Erish announced yesterday the Bulgarian official, Georgi Barkanoff Tcholakoff, had been picked up on an Istanbul bridge at a midnight rendezvous with a Bulgarian of Turkish origin, Ali Demiroff.

Demiroff also was arrested. A third man whose identity was not revealed was reported in custody and more arrests were predicted.

The police chief said seized documents proved the existence of a Communist spy ring in Turkey.

Collecting Mad Money Results In Jail Job

LONDON (AP)—The voice on the phone said: "Get ri" of that man White—he's a homicidal maniac."

Norman White, 29, lost the job he started only an hour before.

The same thing had happened four times in three weeks. Each time Norman was fired within two hours of starting a new job, and each time he collected a week's pay.
